

Dear Friends,

Things are beginning to happen with our Adoration Chapel. As I write these words (Oct. 7), I am on the calendar to meet with the bishop and show him the artists' plans for the stained-glass window and Monstrance design. I meet with the bishop on Friday the 13th (hope it's not some omen) and maybe as you are reading this you will have already heard my brief presentation on our status. KEEP PRAYING!

We welcome Father Dante and are very happy to have him here. He's having a tough time getting settled because I realized his rooms needed new carpeting before he can move his stuff. That, too, should be done as you read this. So, offer Father your welcome and your prayers that he gets his things in order without breaking his back!

An announcement: Two sisters from the Daughters of St. Paul will be here the weekend of October 28 & 29 with books, CDs, and other religious items for your perusal. Please welcome them and offer them your support in their valuable ministry. (More info next weekend.)

Have a blessed and holy week. Pray for peace!

Father Fred
